TO ARRIVE AT GRAYLING JULY 13

PIKE ASSOCIATION IS MAKING ITS LAST TRIP.

The "Pike" tour which Detroit and other automobile and good roads enthusiasts will make through Northwestern Michigan, starting from Detroit, July 6, and going up the shore road to Mackinaw and thence to the Soo, returning the following week by the way of Cheboygan, Grayling, West Branch, Gladwin and Beaver-ton, will probably be the last trip of the kind taken by members of the East Michigan Pike association.

The tourists are scheduled to arrive in Grayling Sunday, July 13. Local arrangements have been placed in the hands of the Grayling Board of trade and no doubt committees will be appointed to meet the visitors at Frederick and escort them to this place. Apparently their stop in Grayling members of the tour stop at the will be brief as it is intended that the South Branch Ranch in South Branch township where they will become guests over night of its owner "Bill" Wood, and a big barbecue is being arranged for them.

This association was organized solely for the purpose of bringing to the attention of each community the value of good roads and that they are paying investment for all. The association believes that its work along this line has been so fruitful that it is no longer necessary to carry it on and that, with the aid which the state and the nation are to give to highway building, every county will be getting into the game just as rapidly as possible.

On every pike trip the speakers have urged the value of good roads in bringing tourists to the many beautiful summer resorts and fishing and hunting grounds of this section of the state and hereafter their work will be devoted to this proposition.

It is proposed to advertise, in various ways, the splendid attractions which Northeastern Michigan offers and to arrange for "personally conducted" tours of automobile parties from the entire central states district, the association providing a man familiar with routes and with the best resorts, camping places, fishing and hunting grounds, and to bring to this section of the state tourists in groups and to show them not only the pleasure spots but also the chances for profitable investment.

Plans for carrying on this work are now being considered and while it is probably too late to do anything along this line this year it is expected that several of these excursions will be arranged each year hereafter.

ADVERTISING SURELY BRINGS INVESTORS.

The other day there walked into the office of the secretary of the Northeastern Michigan bureau a man from Detroit, who wanted to get some information about one of the northern counties. He showed that he had a pretty fair knowledge of the district and also that he was much interested in the possibilities which it offers and Secretary Marston was curious to find out what had started him on the subject. "I picked up a booklet about that county at the state fair two years ago," he said, "and ever since I read that booklet I have been trying to bring things around so that I could go up there, invest in land and make it my home. I have just reached that point and I am on my way there now."

The bureau has issued booklets regarding nearly every county in the district, has advertised by means of traveling exhibits, a permanent exhibit at Detroit and exhibits at the state and many county fairs and the secretary knows that this work has brought many people into the district, but he never realized the far-reaching effect of the advertising until this man, who had first been reached by it two years ago, made himself known. "He is only one," said Mr. Marston. "It would be mighty interesting to know how many have come into the district through this advertising and have never been heard of at the development bureau's office."

GERMAN CANNON FOR COURT YARD

CONGRESSMAN CURRIE ASKS CONGRESS FOR APPROPRIATION.

It may truthfully be said that the 10th district of Michigan has a congressman who is continually looking out for the interests of its several communities. Without suggestion on the part of any of our people here at home, Congressman Gilbert A. Currie has offered a bill in Congress which reads as follows:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of War be, and he is hereby, authorized, and directed to donate to the city of Grayling, Michigan, one cannon or field-piece, with suitable carriage and accoutrements, captured by the American Army from the forces of the Imperial German Government during the present war."

In a letter to the Avalanche Mr. Currie writes as follows:

Washington, D. C.
June 30th, 1919.

Mr. O. P. Schumann,

Grayling, Michigan.

Some of the towns in my District have requested that I make effort to secure for them a captured German cannon. It occurred to me that the Crawford County people should not be overlooked. I have therefore introduced a bill, a copy of which is enclosed, providing for a captured German cannon to be placed on the court house square as monumental evidence of the prowess of our brave boys.

My public duties will prevent my going to Michigan for the Fourth. Your people may know, however, that my thought is with them on this great occasion. For us to reflect but for a few months into the past give us a better appreciation of the present. One year ago there was everywhere throughout our land, the feeling of awful anxiety. The fate of civilization hung in the balance. Today we celebrate a victorious peace. We have every cause to be thankful.

Let us pause for a moment to pay silent tribute to those who will never return, and who gave their lives that the great victory which we celebrate on this Fourth might be made possible. Very sincerely yours,
Gilbert A. Currie.

BIG FARMERS PICNIC JULY 18

Posters will soon be distributed announcing the big picnic to be given by the Farm Bureaus of Crawford and Roscommon counties and the Grayling Board of trade, to be held at the Hanson State Military reservation Friday, July 18. This is going to be a big day for the people of these two counties and there are good prospects for a large attendance of people from other counties. Some of the local enthusiasts believe it will be the biggest day ever held in Grayling in so far as the number of people is concerned. There will be a big program in store for the visitors and every minute from the time the big affair opens in the morning until late at night there will be something doing. There will be lots of band music as the Grayling Citizens band will be on the job; a short period of speechmaking by Mayor Hans Petersen, T. W. Hanson of this city and Dr. Eben Munford, chairman of the county agricultural agents of Michigan. Following this there will be a basket dinner and everybody is expected to come prepared. There will be a program of field sports right after dinner, when everybody will be too full of good things to eat to break any track records. Some good prizes from nifty wearing apparel to cut class and jewelry are being offered by Grayling business men. Besides these attractions there will be bathing fishing and boat rides in Lake Margrethe one of the finest lakes in Michigan. Then there will be dancing at the officers club house, with the best dance floor you ever glided over. So plan to lay down your shovel and your hoe, or close your places of business and be out with the crowd that day. Come out and meet your neighbor; you may like him. Oh, yes, there is another thing we nearly forgot to mention it, and that is a base ball game between select nines from the Farm Bureaus and from the Grayling Board of trade—all ex-laguers and still in the ring. There will be plenty of gore spilled in this game and no doubt a couple of umpires will be bayoneted. Come and see.

KINDERGARTEN HELPS FOR PARENTS

This is No. 37 of the second series of articles prepared for the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Education, by the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West 40th Street, New York.

Enter Into The Spirit of the Children's Games. It Will Delight Them And You Will Like It Too.

(By Marie K. Chaffee.)

"Mother, may we play 'carpenter' the way we do in kindergarten?" a little four-year-old asked one morning. "Certainly, boys," was mother's reply. And soon Robert and two of his friends were hunting down cellar for small pieces of wood to make a table. They had made tables of paper and cardboard, so why not of wood? Of course mother had to help them hammer the nails in tight, but the boys found the wood and fitted the pieces together.

Then mother sang and acted with them the kindergarten Carpenter song:

Busy is the carpenter;
At his work he stands.
Oh, the wonders he can do
With his skillful hands!
Sawing now, the long, long boards
Shorter soon he makes;
And the rough is quickly smoothed
When the plane he takes.

—Emilie Poulsson.

It was a delightful morning for the boys and for mother also, and the dinner hour came all too soon. From that time on the carpenter shop grew in that family, keeping the boys busily and happily occupied for hours at a stretch. They soon came to realize that the house they lived in was the work of men who toiled busily every day and they became much interested in a new house which was being built in the neighborhood and which they visited as often as possible. Then too, the boys' imaginations were wonderfully developed, for they were really carpenters. They would leave their work and go home for the noon meal, or bring their luncheon in boxes to eat during the pretended noon hour. And at night would shut up the shop, put away all tools carefully and go home to their families.

Whatever the boys played in kindergarten they repeated at home and always with added spirit, for mother and sister were there to join them and sometimes father also. The Blacksmith was another favorite game.

The blacksmith strong, a man is he
Who never tries to shirk;
He rolls his sleeves and bares his arm,
And then he goes to work.
First he'll light the fire,
Then, blow, blow, blow!
To make the flames go higher,
He'll blow, blow, blow.
Kling-klang, kling-klang!
The hammer will go and go;
He works with all his might
Until he gets things right.
Kling-klang, kling-klang, kling-klang,
Kling-klang, kling-klang, kling-klang,
Kling-klang, kling!

—W. H. Neidlinger.

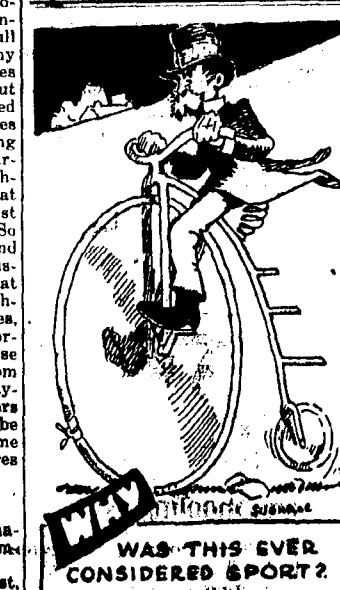

The action of these games is easy to imagine and the children delight in it. I've seen little Italian boys in kindergarten work so hard over an imaginary forge and anvil that their hands became red from exertion. There are other kindergarten games of a similar nature such as the miner, the shoemaker and the fireman.

Really representing the carpenter, blacksmith or other character is the best part of any game. It is "acting," and the mother who can enter into the spirit of these simple games with her children will not only afford them much amusement, but find keen enjoyment herself.

It seems to me the importance of the trade games cannot be emphasized enough. Froebel said a hundred years ago, "What the child imitates he begins to understand," and how important that he should feel the honor we owe to them through whose labor we are blessed with food, clothing and shelter! By devising a series of simple games in which the child imitates the activity of various workmen, Froebel showed how it was possible to guide the play interest of the child in such a way as to implant in him the first realization of the gratitude that is due to labor.

If the mother also possesses and fosters such understanding and respect, the influence and good that will result are sure to have far-reaching effects upon the child and the community.

Help to reach all the parents of the country by cutting this out and passing it on to a friend.

GRAYLING, THURSDAY, JULY 3

BOOSE does nobody good and does incalculable harm and now that the nation is dry we are going to be 100% better off, just as Grayling is improved by the absence of intoxicating liquor. There no longer infest our public places gleary-eyed, drunken men but instead these same men are now good, reputable citizens, a credit to Grayling and to their wives and children. Old John Barleycorn for years destroyed many homes, contaminated our courts and controlled politics and the people finally got wise and decided that it was time that he was counted out and, like humans who have had their day, it will be almost impossible to "come back." The people like the improved conditions.

CORPORATION TAX DUE THIS MONTH.

Capital Stock blank forms with instructions are being mailed to all corporations in this district by Collector of Internal Revenue, James J. Brady of Detroit.

These returns will be due in the office of the Collector on or before the last day of July, and any return not filed in time will subject the delinquent to a penalty of 25 per cent of the tax due.

The tax is being collected for the period July 1, 1919 to June 30, 1920, and every corporation is required to file a return, without regard to whether or not it is taxable under the Revenue Act of 1918.

While Mr. Brady aims to mail blanks to every corporation in the first district of Michigan, non-receipt of a blank, or miscarriage of the mails, does not relieve corporations from liability to make returns nor from penalties for failure so to do. In case no blanks are received within a week from July 1, corporations should send a request for same to Mr. Brady.

The tax is at the rate of $1.00 for each $100 value of the capital stock of corporations. This does not mean the capitalization of the companies, as a company might have only a nominal capital, yet the value of its stock as determined by surplus and undivided profits, be such as to render it liable to heavy tax.

Three methods of arriving at the true value of the stock of corporations are set forth on the blanks: First, a balance sheet as shown by the books on June 30, 1919; second, sales of stock in the open market, or at private sale if of such volume as to furnish adequate data; and third, the average income of the corporation for a period of five years past.

Corporations should use whichever method indicates the highest value of the stock, unless by reason of unusual circumstances set forth in writing and attached to the return a lower value appears more correctly to reflect the actual value.

Corporations making return are entitled to deduct from the value of stock shown the sum of $5000, which will be exempt from tax.

YATH CLAIMS ONE OF GRAYLING'S YOUNG MEN.

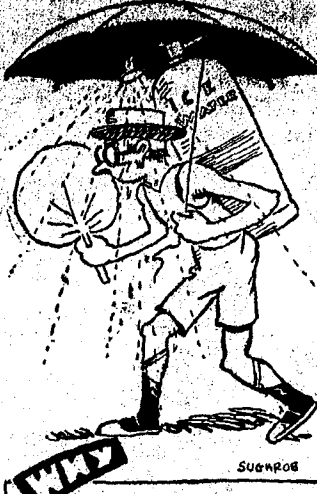

Elmer Knight Succumbs to Attack of Illness.

Elmer Eugene Knight, a resident of Grayling, since boyhood, passed away at his home in this city Tuesday forenoon at about eleven o'clock. For the past couple of weeks Mr. Knight had been in a feeble condition and death was due to tuberculosis, from which he had been ailing for the past couple of years. A few weeks ago he went to Ann Arbor to consult specialists, but they were unable to do anything for him. Since coming from Ann Arbor he has been living out-of-doors in an endeavor to somewhat regain his health.

Elmer Eugene Knight was born in the little village of Mongaup, Sullivan County, state of New York, June 25, 1878. He came to Grayling with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Knight 31 years ago directly from New York. He was then just a young boy and during the years that followed attended the Grayling schools, graduating from that institution with high honors. On completing school he studied law under Attorney James Wright of this place and made fine progress. Later he gave up this study and worked in different capacities for the Salling Hanson Co., and for the past five or six years has acted as a guide for fishermen on the Ausable river, of which stream he was familiar with every inch of its course. About twelve years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Ada Rose of this place who with a daughter Ellen Rose survive him. Also his mother Mrs. Mary E. Knight and an adopted sister, Mrs. Emma Jackson survive.

Those who have lived in Grayling many years remember Elmer Knight as one of the most promising youths of the city, and a prime favorite wherever he went. He was endowed with a bright mind and a pleasing personality. He was a good reader and was well informed on the topics of the day.

The wife and daughter and the aged mother have the sympathy of the people of Grayling generally in this hour of sadness. The funeral is being held this afternoon at the Michelson Memorial church. Because of the absence of Rev. Doty, Rev. Terhune of Frederic will conduct the funeral service. Interment will be in the family lot in the old Grayling cemetery.

CAN'T WE DRESS FOR COMFORT IN THE SUMMER?

CREEL WILL BRING PELMANISM TO AMERICA.

(By William C. Freeman.)

George Creel, who did such splendid work for the government during the war as chairman of the committee on public information, and who during the closing weeks of his official connection with the government spent the time abroad, has come back to this country with a plan that is in line with his idealism, and which he will exploit through the columns of national mediums and newspapers in a striking and interesting advertising way.

While in England he met W. J. Ennever, founder and president of the Pelman Institute, 4 Bloomsbury street, London, W. C. 1, who has introduced Pelmanism in Europe, which has proved a great national asset in training the minds of men and women who heretofore never realized the importance of concentration.

Those of us who know George Creel and his ambition in life, which is to render as great a service as possible to his fellows, can easily understand why he entered into an arrangement with Mr. Ennever to introduce Pelmanism into this country.

I have before me of date Wednesday, June 5, 1918, a copy of "Truth," in which there appears a vivid review of the present work and recent progress of the Pelman Institute.

"Pelmanism is a serious educational factor in the national life. What the scientific psychologists generally had not considered was a practical method by which every adult with a normal brain could improve his mind, a means by which defects caused by bad educational methods in early life could be eradicated, a training which should make the brain of man or woman subjected to it brighter, stronger, more capable and more active."

The Pelmanism methods may be summarized under the following five classifications:

1.—That the course of training is founded on a scientific basis of natural law.

2.—That it is the product of expert psychological knowledge, combined with acquaintance with every-day affairs.

3.—That it is taught by experienced tutors.

4.—That it is devoid of technicalities, is adapted to every-day needs and provides instruction for securing physical as well as mental wellbeing.

5.—That there is overwhelming testimony from men and women in all the walks of life to the value of the training, backed up by innumerable specific instances of personal success directly attributable to such training.

Mr. Ennever, a wide-awake, progressive man, realized at the beginning that the only way to get Pelmanism into the minds of the people of England, and to make them appreciate its importance as an educational force, was to advertise it. Therefore, he proceeded to use full pages in nearly every newspaper and magazine in Great Britain until the whole story with which Pelmanism is associated got into the consciousness of the people. The responses were tremendous.

Men in the trenches, with little time on their hands very frequently, welcomed an opportunity to take up a course of mental training. The effect on the soldiers of England was very noticeable when they returned from the war. They came back bigger, more intellectual and finer types of manhood—ready to engage in any enterprise that required thinking and skill.

The money invested in advertising in England now approximates $1,000,000 a year. An advertising campaign is soon to be inaugurated in the United States under the direction of Mr. Creel, with the co-operation of the William H. Rankin Company, advertising agency, Chicago, New York, Washington, and the amount so invested will be in excess of $300,000. The promotion of this kind of work fits in exactly with Mr. Creel's conception of his duty to his fellows.

Jerome K. Jerome, in answering a question, "Is Pelmanism absurd?" said the following:

"The only 'absurd' thing about Pelmanism is that there should be any need of a special institute to teach it. It ought to be included as a matter of course in the education of every boy and girl. It ought not to be an addition to education. It ought to be the beginning of education."

This statement from Mr. Jerome sums up the importance of Pelmanism and I have no doubt that when the advertising campaign is launched in America, exploiting its advantages, there will be a tremendous response from the American people.

LOSS OF APPETITE.

As a general rule there is nothing serious about a loss of appetite, and if you skip a meal or only eat two meals a day for a few days you will soon have a relish for your meals when meal time comes. Bear in mind that at least five hours should always elapse between meals so as to give the food ample time to digest and the stomach a period of rest before a second meal is taken. Then if you eat no more than you crave and take a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise every day you will not need to worry about your appetite. When the loss of appetite is caused by constipation as is often the case, that should be corrected at once. A dose of Chamberlain's Tablets will do it. Adv.

Alam Gierke reports that last Friday night dogs entered his premises and killed three valuable calves. Two of the calves were registered.

Harold Halston, a farmer and valued at $175.00, who has the third was three-quarters thoroughbred and valued at $50.00. He has been offered $100.00 for the animal.

Mr. Gierke, nearly those amounts at the time they were born. The farmer who has the calves is a local resident.

The dead of dogs doing the deed on the farm, and as it is not known which ones killed the calves, no doubt Grayling township will be called upon to bear the loss. The collection of dog taxes seems to have always been an undesirable task for the authorities but the imperative necessity of doing so is easily manifest by the experience of the farmer and others who have had animals killed by dogs. Mr. Gierke says that dogs have done other damage to his property in the past. At one time he tried to raise thoroughbred ducks and found one early morning that dogs had killed his entire flock. The same happened with a flock of thoroughbred geese. He says that he might stand for having his fowls killed but when it comes to having his hightbred cattle killed he is loath to protest.

Scenes were taken at a time when one of the attendants was feeding the fish and with every scoopful of food thrown into the stream there were hundreds of trout there waiting for it and in their attack the water would fairly seeth. This condition was plainly shown in every one of the pictures. Probably the most remarkable picture was of a school of large trout beneath the surface of the water. It is one that will bear careful study with results that are extremely interesting.

Summer Complaint in Children.

There is not anything like so many deaths from the disease now as before Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy came into such general use. When this remedy is given with castor oil as directed and proper care is taken as to diet, it is safe to say that fully ninety-nine out of every hundred cases recover. Mr. W. G. Campbell of Butler, Penn., says, "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for summer complaint in children. It is far ahead of anything I have ever used for this purpose." Adv.

CRAWFORD COUNTY
AGENTS COLUMN

Twelve communities in these counties have been organized for the Grasshopper Control project and committees appointed to take charge of the fight. Five other communities which are being bothered with this pest and whose settlers are too scattered to make an organized drive are being cared for individually by the County Agent. The latter's hardest job in the organized communities is to get the Committees in charge of the project to go ahead on their own judgment. They are inclined to wait for the County agent to come around and tell them when to move. They should remember that they have all the information that he has on the subject; that he cannot get around to all the communities to look after each detail; that they were appointed to take full charge of the work in their community and that they must use the same judgment and discretion that they would in any other piece of work they were not paying for themselves or others. The County Agent is on the go all day and about half the night and then cannot cover all the ground as often as he could like to.

Community fights on the grasshopper have been held in Escanaba, Beaver Creek, Wellington, South Branch, East Gerish, Keno, North Richfield, and West Gerish. Reports from these communities as to what it has accomplished vary. Some say that they cannot see that any are being killed while others say that there is no doubt that it is successful. The experience of the farmers of Kalkaska last year when fighting the grasshoppers before they became fliers, and while they were yet small was that they could not find them after they had spread the poison and for a long time they were very pessimistic as to their accomplishing anything. However Mr. Twine the County agent kept urging them to continue and it was only after the grasshoppers got large enough to fly that they began to find great numbers of them dead. This convinced the farmers that they had been killing them when they were small. The farmers should remember that the methods of this fight is not a thing that has been conjured in the brain of the County Agent or the Department of Entomology, but just the history and experience of a fight that was put up by the farmers of Kalkaska County last year against a two years devastation that left their farms as bare as the hills of those of Northern France and Belgium. Their methods have been carefully studied by the County Agent and each step suggested by him is a strict following of the directions received from those farmers of Kalkaska. They were successful. If we are not then we should examine ourselves and see if we are following directions properly and persistently keeping at it.

The Community of West Gerish was organized in the Farm Bureau work last Friday night with practically all the farmers in that community at the meeting. The following projects were taken on with committees as named.

Organization and Membership: Chairman, George Boardman, Farm Manor, Mich.
Grasshopper Control: Arthur H. Lyon, Mayor, Mich.
Threshing: Gustav Orinich, Lyon Manor, Mich.

The Farm Bureau work faced a crisis last week in these counties owing to the lack of action on the part of Congress, which failed to pass the emergency appropriation for agricultural extension work in time for apportionment for the year 1919-20. As the fiscal year of the Federal government runs out June 30th, this threw the work back on the regular Smith Lever funds which would be $4,600,000 short of carrying it on along the lines of the past year. This meant an annual $900 deficit in each county, or a shortage of $300 to carry on the work in these counties from July 1st to December 31st. Thus in order to carry on the work during that period the House of Representatives which were the emergency appropriation of $1,000,000 for Crawford and Roscommon Counties to keep the work going. The whole matter for the 1920 will be taken up at the October session of the Board. In Congress, so far the House has passed the Agricultural Appropriation bill leaving out the Emergency appropriation for Extension work and cutting the request of the Secretary of Agriculture for $350,000 for carrying on the examination of the Office of Farm Management into cost production of farm products to $25,000. This is the most vital thing that the farmer has before congress because it is the thing that has got to be known before he can get at his marketing problem successfully. The farmers marketing problem is the biggest one with which he has to do at present. Little use to raise good crops and be unable to get anything out of them. The appropriation for free seeds under the congressional frank passed intact as usual at $305,000. The whole matter is up to the U. S. Senate, where it is hoped that something can be done to prevent the hamstringing of the most important and practical work that has ever been attempted for the benefit of agriculture from both an educational and economic standpoint.

The posters and program for the Joint Crawford-Roscommon County Farm Bureau picnic at the Hanson Military Reserve on Lake Margrethe on July 18th are in the hands of the printer and will be sent out early in the month. A fine program has been prepared and the day promises to be the biggest event of the history of these counties. Be sure and make your arrangements to be there with a generous lunch basket.
